Arthur P. Bagby, a Senator from Alabama, has nisrepresented the people of that State, and especially the democratic party, by whom he was elected, and to the astonishment of every body, commenced an anti-annexation speech in the Senate this evening, at about half past five 'clock, and closed at half past seven o'clock, after croaking for two hours in opposition to the joint resolution of the House, and in fa-

There is reason to believe that this opposition has been sprung at the present crisis in order to compel the President elect to accede to the wishes of certain Senators, in the selection of the Globe as the organ of the administration, and in the construction of the new cabinet. If so, we shall have an immediate test of the strength of character and resolution of Mr. Polk, and there can hardly be a doubt that he will resolutely resist such an infamous attempt to control his action, as it deserves. If Texas is defeated, the people will compel him to select an annexation cabinet entire, and thus the plotters will be outplotted. The constituents of Senator Bagby will be thunder struck with his course, as it will be remembered that he voted for the treaty at the last session, and none have suspected (except the whigs who were in the secret,) that he would thus violate his trust and deceive the whole democratic party. The loudest anathemas and curses were heaped upon his head this evening by thousands in the city, and by every democratic member from Alabama, except one, who it is believed has been active to-day in urgung him to this course. You will remember that every member from Alabama in the House, including Mr. Dellett, a whig, voted in favor of the joint resolutions, and the course of Mr. Bagby in following this opinion, was never doubted by his friends until this evening.

which Vermont came into the Union, and how she resisted the attempt of New York and Massachusetts to annex her to their territory.

The vote will not be taken on annexation before Thursday night or Friday morning, and the result, I think, will be negative.

During the Executive session to-day, A. H. Everett, was nominated as Minister to China by President Tyler.

Mr. Bagby is a native of Virginia—was originally a Federalist, and resides and is now considered a citizen of Georgetown. He was engaged here last summer as an agent or advocate of claimants against the government, which business was rather small potatoes for a Senator of the United States.

P. S.—Senator Merrick, of Maryland, has been instructed by the Legislature to vote against annexation, and will obey. You may consider the resolution as defeated, and annexation at an end this session.

N. B.—It is reported, at 10 o'clock at night, that Bagby has agreed to vote for annexation, notwithstanding his speech, and that he has so informed his colleague, Dixon H. Lewis, who intended to excitement and anxiety, on account of the supposition that a vote would be reached on the Texas question to-night. But lawvers seem like the Pharisees of old, who supposed they were to be heard for their " much speaking." As members of Congress, they seem to lose none of this peculiar propensity for speaking in public.

carly part of the day. The Senate, as usual, took a recess until 5 P. M. On the hands of the clock reaching that figure on the clock face, the President of the Senate took his seat, and called the honorable Senators to order. Mr. Bagby, from the democratic State of Alabama, had the floor.— Every one was prepared and expected to hear a powerful argument in favor of the House resolutions; but what was there atter astonishment, when they heard Mr. Bagby rise in his place and commence a speech against the House resolutions on constitutional grounds! If a bolt of thunder had struck the dome of the capitol demolishing it at a twinkling, the surprize could not have been more astounding. The news spread through every part of the vast building, uttered by anxious countenances, "Texas is lost!" "Bagby has lost us Texas." "Without his vote the measure cannot be carried." "He has just said in his speech, he will not vote for the measure."

July next. The bill was immediately sent to the Senate, and the amendments will probably be concurred in. The foreign postage bill forwarded to you yesterday, will probably be adopted. John Quincy Adams abstained from voting on the postage bill, owing to the fact of his being entitled to the franking privilege as one of the Ex-Presidents of the United States.

The Texas debate was continued in the Senate to-day, and will probably occupy the attention of that body until to-morrow, when a vote will be taken. Result doubtful.

Cabinet movements are still in statue quo, and will so remain until after the vote on the question of annexation.

Office holders and office seekers are busy and active, and hundreds are here with petitions, letters and recommendations, many of which it is believed, were prepared for the eye of any President of the United States who might have been elected by the democratic party, and some, it is supposed have been previously laid before previous Presidents. The infamous system of "log-rolling" for office has already commenced, and bargain and trade between certain parties is fully evident from their movements in obtaining signatures and recommendations in return for similar services.

Thomas Goin, of your city, the active and untiring friend of the seamen of the country, arrived here yesterday to urge the action of Congress in favor of an appropriation to continue the Naval School system, of which he may be considered the father. It is to be hoosed that success will foliow his efforts, as naught but the public interest prompts his action.

Among the religious arrivals I perceive that of Bishop Hughes, but whether he is desirous of office or not, I know not.

This movement is no doubt premonitory of the course of Mr. Benton, and some few others, in opposition to the House plan of annexation, and it is now disclosed that a caucus was held by this clique of the democratic party on Tuesday evening, at which this course was agreed upon.
